

ARCTIC SANCTUARY

EXHIBITION FACT SHEET

Content

1. 50 photographic images by Jeff Jones of the Arctic National Wildlife Refuge. All images are printed and matted using archival materials. Image sizes range from large-scale panoramas to smaller, more intimate and abstract studies of the landscape (see checklist below for a list of image and frame sizes). Frames are hand crafted from American walnut. All pieces are shipped in re-useable crates.
2. Eight interpretive panels printed on canvas, stretched and ready to hang. Panel text is taken from the book, Arctic Sanctuary.
3. Map of northeastern Alaska and the Arctic Refuge, ready to hang.
4. Film and stage play commissioned specifically for the 50th anniversary by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, the federal agency which manages the Arctic Refuge.
5. Speakers including photographer Jeff Jones, retired Refuge wildlife biologist, Fran Mauer, and U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service staff.
6. For sale, Gift shop item #1: Copies of the book, Arctic Sanctuary, which contains more than 150 images of the Arctic Refuge photographed by Jeff. Scheduled for release by the University of Alaska Press in September 2010.
7. For sale, Gift shop item #2: Small, matted, unframed, archival-quality digital prints of the exhibition's photographic images. All prints are signed by Jeff Jones.
8. Copy and images for use in promoting the exhibition and producing an exhibition program.

Space Requirements

Approximately 420 linear feet of wall space: 320 linear feet for the framed photographic images and 100 linear feet for the interpretive panels and map. The exhibition is scaleable to fit the venue's size.

Exhibition Costs

Negotiable exhibition fee. For presentations, the venue will cover any travel, accommodations, and per diem for speakers.

Available

Beginning fall 2010 through at least 2013.
